

{audio}files/preroll.mp3;files/Shows/2010/042210_For_Your_Information_De_Freeman.mp3{/audio}

Dee Freeman, director of the North Carolina Department of Environment and Natural Resources, joined Don Curtis to discuss the state of NC's environment and DENR's upcoming initiatives. They discussed the state's history of drought and the current lack thereof, as well as the new Mayo State Park and recent record pollen levels.