

UNC Chancellors Get Pay Hikes

By Administrator

Tuesday, 02 August 2016 14:37 - Last Updated Tuesday, 02 August 2016 14:39

UNC Board of Governors approved 2016-2017 salary increases for 16 UNC-System chancellors raises ranging from 1.5 to 16.1 percent.

UNC-Charlotte

Chancellor Philip Dubois will be paid $450,000. His 16.1 percent pay raise amounts to $56,688.

The R aleigh

News and Observer reports Randy Woodson of N.C. State and Carol

Folt

of

UNC-Chapel

Hill rank first and second in overall salary. They received the second highest raises at 4.6 percent, along with N.C. Central Chancellor Debra Saunders-White. With the raises, 14 of 17 chancellors fit within the market range for their position, while a market range for one was not determined. That leaves and Woodson as the only chancellors still shy of their desired ranges. Woodson's final approved salary is $617,376, while is $596,448.

Folt

Folt's

Though more chancellors are getting raises this year, the majority are exclusively through the 1.5 percent state lawmakers allocated in the state budget. Seven chancellors received additional salary increases.