President Trump granted a Major Disaster Declaration for the State of North Carolina. The declaration triggers the release of federal funds to help communities recover from Tropical Storm Michael that occurred October 10-12, 2018.

Rep. Virginia Foxx (R - N.C.) stated, "I'm pleased that North Carolina's request for a Major Disaster Declaration was given fair consideration and public assistance will be delivered to Surry, Stokes, Forsyth and Yadkin Counties in North Carolina's Fifth District. It is my hope that the state recovers fully and quickly, and I am thankful for the work being done on the ground by State Representative Sarah Stevens and others facilitating the assistance delivery. If there are questions about the Public Assistance and Hazard Mitigation Grant Programs, please reach out to my office for resources and information."
