RALEIGH, (SGRToday.com) - On Tuesday, Lous Bledsoe III began his appointment as a Special Superior Court Judge for Complex Business Cases. His term is for five years.

“Louis Bledsoe’s extensive experience in business and commercial litigation makes him well-suited for the Business Court,” said Governor Pat McCrory in a statement. “He has developed a great reputation as a litigator and has earned the trust and respect of many members of the Bar. He will be an outstanding judge for our state’s Business Court.”

Bledsoe is a partner with the law firm of Robinson, Bradshaw & Hinson, P.A. where he is the chair of the business development committee. During his 30 year career, he has been involved in multiple areas of business litigation, including contract disputes, banking, insurance, and other corporate matters.

Bledsoe received his law degree from Harvard Law School.
