RALEIGH, (SGRToday.com) - On the heels of President Obama's action to allow up to 5 million illegal immigrants to escape the threat of deportation, Gov. Pat McCrory issued the following statement.

"With this latest executive order, President Obama is making new law by bypassing Congress. I'm already discussing with other governors a long-term solution to immigration reform as well as an appropriate legal response to this unconstitutional overreach of the White House. North Carolina is not a border state, but it's impacted by illegal immigration. I'm extremely concerned about the potentially negative impact of this executive order on our public schools, health services and public safety."
