

Money Watch: Democrats Beat Republicans In Congressional Fundraising

By Administrator

Thursday, 17 July 2014 14:20 - Last Updated Thursday, 17 July 2014 14:21

RALEIGH, (SGRToday.com) - The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee (DCCC) has something to cheer about in an election year many pundits say is trending toward Republicans.

The DCCC reports it raised $10.9 million last month -- more than a million more than its Republican counterpart, which raised $9.6 million, according to the Wall Street Journal.

In terms of cash on hand, the Democratic group reportedly has more in its coffers than do Republicans -- $50.9 million to $42.5 million.