Sen. Richard Burr's campaign is refusing to provide The News & Observer with details of his campaign schedule, limiting the newspaper from reporting on the senator's public appearances.

Burr spokesman Jesse Hunt told the News and Observer the campaign has concerns about the paper's ability to cover Senator Burr's campaign objectively.

The Burr campaign had been sending near-daily news releases in early October outlining where Burr would be campaigning, but The N&O stopped receiving those releases in recent weeks.

The Burr campaign had voiced concerns with The N&O's story last week about a 2010 campaign fundraiser that conflicted with a Senate committee hearing on a costly military aircraft.
