

Cooper Grants Pardon Of Innocence To Man Who Served 24 Years For Murder He Didn't Commit

By Administrator

Friday, 12 November 2021 17:55 - Last Updated Friday, 12 November 2021 17:57

Governor Roy Cooper granted a Pardon of Innocence for Montoyae Dontae Sharpe of Charlotte. Mr. Sharpe's pardon application was thoroughly reviewed by the Office of Executive Clemency, the Office of the General Counsel and the Governor.

"I have carefully reviewed Montoyae Dontae Sharpe's case and am granting him a Pardon of Innocence," said Governor Cooper. "Mr. Sharpe and others who have been wrongly convicted deserve to have that injustice fully and publicly acknowledged."

This pardon makes Sharpe eligible to file a claim under North Carolina law, which allows compensation to persons wrongly convicted of felonies.